

Visit of Sambuca di Sicilia, indeleble testimony of arab culture

On the tracks of Arab culture, among art and the “Vastedda del Belice” cheese excellence!

Founded by the Arabs around the 830, Sambuca di Sicilia is located on the south-west side of Sicily, on the edge of the Belice Valley and the slopes of Mount Genuardo. The old town with its quaint neighborhoods and buildings offers different attractions. The seven "Saracens alleys", blind alleys, narrow streets and courtyards, all different from each other, remind to the need for traditional Arab cities, to fight the sun and violence of the wind from the desert. A stroll through the narrow streets will take you back to past times, making you breathe an atmosphere of antiquity and fantastic traditions.
